ONE MAN AND TWO WOMEN ROBBED BANK OF WINCHESTER, VA.

BOOKKEEPER RECOGNIZED MAN BUT DID NOT KNOW HIS COMPANIONS

By Associated Press.
Winchester, Va., July 25.—The Mount Jackson National Bank of Mount Jackson, Shenandoah county, Virginia, was held up and robbed of $2,000 today by a man and two women, all flourishing pistols. The trio escaped in an automobile after scooping up all cash and currency in sight.

C. I. Dellinger, bookkeeper, told police he recognized the man as Kirby B. Dellinger, his cousin, formerly of Mount Jackson. He said that he did not know the women, who were described as between 30 and 35 years of age. They were not masked.

MISSISSIPPI FLOOD AREA THREATENED BY PELLAGRA OUTBREAK

PROPER FOOD IS NECESSARY TO PREVENT SPREAD PHY- SICIAN STATES

By Associated Press.
Jackson, Miss., July 25.—The Mississippi Delta is threatened by a serious outbreak of pellagra, Dr. F. L. Underwood, state health officer, declared today. Unless the situation is remedied at once by proper diet for the people of that flooded section it will continue to spread, he said.

No deaths have been reported

The Navarro County Hospital and Clinic, which is being erected at the corner of Collin and Thirteenth streets, will be the latest work in modern hospital and clinic construction, according to a report of the building, as furnished by H. O. Blanding of Corsicana, architect for the building. The building will be four stories in height and fire proof in every respect and will be a credit to Corsicana and Navarro county and the profession which it represents.

The building will be of reinforced concrete, fireproof construction and reached from entrances located on both Collin and Thirteenth streets, with the ambulance entrance in the rear of the building, and the driveway entering from Thirteenth street.

On the first floor will be located the nurses' dining room and kitchen, with pantries and store rooms, laundry, boiler room, X-Ray room, laboratory, two wards and a supply room. This floor is reached from one entrance on Thirteenth street and the rear and also from the main elevator and stairway of the building. A dumb waiter runs from the kitchen to the diet kitchen on the different floors. Also a clothes chute in the laundry serves each floor above. Necessary bath rooms and toilets are also located on this floor.

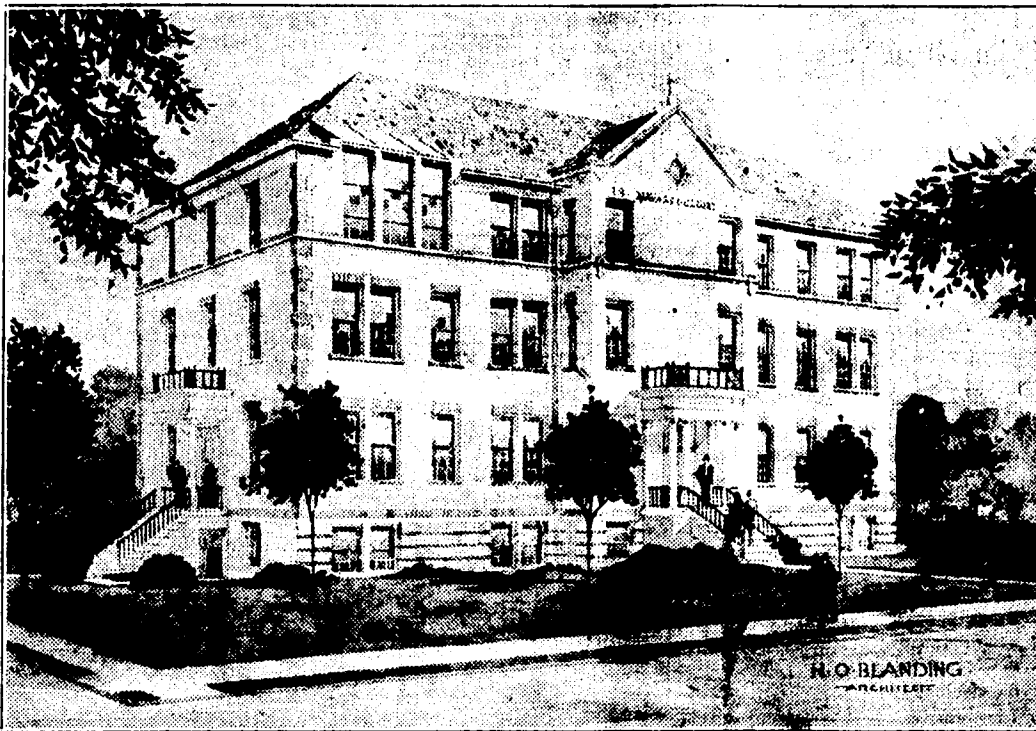

On the second floor will be located the main reception or waiting room, with the general business office and library. The doctors' private offices and treatment rooms take up the remainder of this floor, with each office having outside light and ventilation. This floor of the building is reached from the main entrances on both Collin and Thirteenth streets, with ambulance and automobile entrance off of Thirteenth street in the rear. A supply room is also located on this floor, with the necessary toilet and other conveniences of a modern nature on every hand. A fireproof stairway runs to both the first and third floors from this floor, with a modern hospital push button elevator.

according to Dr. Underwood, who said that a number of cases of insanity have occurred as a result of the disease.

Lack of milk was attributed by Dr. Underwood as one of the outstanding causes for the disease.

JAUNTY AND BRAGGING AIR OF ILLINOIS GANG LEADER BROKEN BY DEATH VERDICT

By Associated Press.
Benton, Ill., July 25.—Charles Birger and Ray Hyland confessed guilt to their attorneys early in their trial for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, it was revealed today.

Birger, Hyland and Art Newman, were convicted yesterday, Birger receiving the death penalty and Hyland and Newman life sentences.

Charles A. Karch and Forrest Goodfellow, both of East St. Louis, attorneys for Birger, told how Birger and Hyland in the first days of the trial had been asked by their attorneys to make a clean breast of their part in the Adams murder.

The lawyers told them a successful defense could not be organized unless they told the whole truth and thus gave their counsel knowledge of what the State might prove or seek to prove.

Karch and Goodfellow said the gangsters confessed the story of Harry Thomsen, self-admitted slayer of Mayor Adams, and the State's star witness, was true in almost every detail.

Birger, the attorneys said, acknowledged plotting the murder and sending the Thomsen brothers, Harry and Elmo, to kill Mayor Adams. Hyland admitted he had driven the murderers' automobile.

MUCH INTEREST IS DISPLAYED IN CASE ALLEGED FLOGGERS

CHANGE OF VENUE ASKED WHEN COURT OPENED IN MARSHALL MONDAY

By Associated Press.
Marshall, Texas, July 25.—Every seat in the court house here was filled when Harrison county's flogging case came to trial this morning with Cane Anderson, wealthy dairy farmer, in the defendant's chair for the third time. Dewitt Osborne, a tenant on the Anderson farm, is charged jointly with him on seven indictments for violating the state anti-mask laws and on one misdemeanor charge.

Anderson is also under bond on charges of bribery in connection with an offer of an automobile and $100 made to the victims of the flogging.

Anderson has been convicted of murder and also tried in Federal court for perjury.

The State announced ready when court opened at 9 o'clock this morning. The halls of the court house were crowded with the witnesses that have been summoned by the defense. It is believed that the testimony of these Harrison county residents will be offered this afternoon in an effort to have the court grant a change of venue.

The defense presented a motion for a change of venue at 10:30 o'clock and offered twenty witnesses. Court adjourned until 1:30 o'clock when arguments of the motion will begin.

The defense presented fourteen motions for change of venue on the fourteen charges against the two men. The State answered the first motion which was based on the charge of approaching a residence while under disguise against Dewitt Osborne.

The defense sought to have the motions all argued at the same time. Because of the objection of the State counsel, composed of assistant attorney general, Galloway Calhoun, the local county attorney, John E. Taylor, and Major Myron Blalock, a law partner of former Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson, the court decided to hear arguments on Osborne's case separately.

Twenty witnesses were ordered to appear at 1:30 when the afternoon session will begin.

WIFE IDENTIFIED SLAYER OF HUSBAND AND HER ASSAILANT

By Associated Press.
Macon, Ga., July 25.—Identified by Mrs. W. T. Andrews, 20, as the negro who killed her husband, robbed the body, then attacked her and shot her through the mouth early yesterday near Milan, Wilmer Galloway was in Bibb county jail here today. Galloway and two other negroes were brought here last night from Macon, where a mob of 1,000 had prepared to storm the Telfair county jail. Mrs. Andrews was in an Eastman, Ga., hospital in a critical condition.

The three negroes were arrested in a shack about a mile from the scene shortly after word of the crime was received by authorities. One of the negroes had smeared his hands feet with tar, which Sheriff C. N. Mullen said was indicative that the negro was preparing for flight, as the tar smearing method was often used by fugitives to throw bloodhounds off the scene in case they were followed.

Couple Prominent
Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, prominent young residents of Macon, Ga., were enroute to Perry, Fla., where Mrs. Andrews' father was reported dying.

Near Milan they stopped at a roadside filling station for water. Two negroes approached and asked for a ride to their shanty, just a "short distance up the road." Without awaiting permission, Mrs. Andrews told authorities, one of the negroes got into the back seat of their automobile and the other stood on the running board.

Man Killed and Robbed
When the "shanty" was reached, the negroes refused to get out and one, whom Mrs. Andrews identified later as Galloway, reached over with a pistol in his hand and shot Mr. Andrews through the head. As her husband's body rolled to the ground, the same negro after removing $150 from Mr. Andrews' pockets, forced Mrs. Andrews from the car, threw her to the ground and a few moments later as she struggled to rise, shot her through the mouth. Mrs. Andrews fell unconscious and the negroes fled, apparently believing she, too, was dead.

Reviving after probably an hour, Mrs. Andrews made her way to a nearby house but was refused admission when she tried to tell her story. Further on she gained the home of R. L. Kinchen, a farmer. Here first aid was given her, word of the crime telephoned to Police Chief E. W. Dowdy of Milan, and a party started back to the automobile where the body of Mr. Andrews was found.

HENRY FORD GETTING RID OF ALL HIS LIBEL SUITS; SENDS APOLOGY BERNSTEIN

By Associated Press.
New York, July 25.—Settlement of the $200,000 libel suit of Herman Bernstein, Jewish writer and editor, against Henry Ford was announced in correspondence published today. Mr. Bernstein has received a letter of retraction and apology from the manufacturer and has replied.

The suit was started four years ago and arose out of a series of articles assailing the Jewish race, published in Mr. Ford's magazine, the Dearborn Independent, and an interview with Ford appearing in that publication in which he was quoted as saying that the published attack on the Jews was based on information given to him by Mr. Bernstein on the famous Ford peace ship.

Mr. Ford, in addition to his apology, his letter shows, has agreed to pay part of the costs and to cooperate with Mr. Bernstein in obtaining the destruction of foreign translations of a pamphlet entitled "The International Jew," comprising articles taken from the Dearborn Independent.

Announcement of settlement of the suit was made by Samuel Un- former, counsel for Bernstein, and follows by little more than a week settlement of the $100,000 libel suit of Aaron Sapiro against Mr. Ford.

THE END

Subsidence of the continents beneath the seas and the drowning of the races is the latest scientific guess as to the end of the world—some 25,000,000 years hence. For this last much talk.

There still remains to man plenty of time in which to enjoy himself and to get something out of life. In the meantime, he will doubtless be treated to many variations of theory as to the end-all. Only a few weeks ago scientists solemnly gave warning of an ending by drouth, with seas receding and land becoming too arid and torrid for existence.

Between being dried out and being drowned there may not be much choice, but there is a wide range of difference. In between there is room for innumerable variations, and beyond there is room even wilder fancies and guesses. It seems that scientific alarmists can not long remain silent on this subject. Very often prophets rise up to forecast the end. Many have been so rash as to cast their disaster for an early date, and accordingly have been discredited by failure.

Later prophets have generally adopted the safer rule of fixing the end-all at some remote time. Now that this warning has been issued, the world public may get set for the next guess, which will not be long in coming if scientific alarmists keep up their prophetic gait.

PERPETUAL PROSPERITY

"Perpetual prosperity is possible—even probable," is a declaration of Charles H. Chase in a current magazine. Why, then, do we have it not? Simply because, we are told, we do not make it. American industry has solved the problem of mass production that should spell prosperity all the time. But it has not solved the problem of mass selling, according to the author. Not much is to be expected of a system that calls for three-fourths of a man to sell what one man has made.

"Viewed as a whole," Mr. Chase says, "production power authorizes consumption, for we all can afford to consume in accordance with our power to produce. If we do not produce we cannot consume. Everybody grasps that idea for the individual, but we don't get it for the whole economic body." This points to "the development of a rational distribution of income, as well as balanced production programs." Elaborating on this, "we must look upon generous payrolls, profits and dividends as the source of buying, we must understand that diffusion of wealth breeds wealth. If we are to increase next year's production 25 per cent and get away with it, then we must at the same time increase incomes to the same extent."

There is nothing new in the ideas presented. The real captains of industry have been putting this philosophy into practice as rapidly as possible. The more advanced labor union leaders have been preaching it for quite a long time. Increased production makes larger markets, and the greater the monetary rewards of production the larger the general market will be.

WHO THANKS A COP?

Captain George A. Parker, who is at the head of the state highway police for Massachusetts, says the public is wholly lacking in appreciation of the services of the men who risk their lives to protect the lives and property of citizens.

Captain Parker enumerates some of the tasks and risks that are part of the everyday job of the policeman. He risks a three per cent liability to be murdered, and a greater liability to be wounded in protecting motorists and pedestrians upon the highways. Safeguarding the people in their homes and in their places of business, and keeping alert in the interests of the public day and night. Notwithstanding, the policeman is about the last servant to whom anyone expresses gratitude. Summarizing the work of his force, Captain Parker says: "They have done their best, yet during the whole year not a man has received a single note of thanks, of commendation or of encouragement from any human being, nor even a kind word to make the task easier."

Come to think of it, who does thank a policeman?

APPEAL OF OLD SONGS

Men love to sing old songs. They love to sing those old songs that were sung when mother used to sit at the little organ in the parlor when red plush upholstery was all the style. There were no movies in those days, nor were there automobiles or the radio. People played whist and euchre and five hundred but bridge had not come into the lives of thousands upon thousands, to occupy their attention several nights a week, as now.

There were few amusements, few distractions. Business hours were longer, but that didn't make much difference in times when people had so little to do.

The family would get together for singing two or three nights a week. The whole family would sing "Old Black Joe." And of course, the family tenor had his big opportunity to come in—"Yes, se a-Comin'—remember Every-one would put his all into "Love's Old Sweet Song." And among those present would usually be "Carry me Back to Old Virginia," "Swanee River," "Old Oaken Bucket." And if there was a man in the family with a good bass voice he always wanted "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

In these days there is little family singing, all too little of fire-side family life. Men are busy in their busy business life, but they still love to sing. That is one thing the service clubs have done for men. They have opened up their souls with the singing at the weekly lunch meetings. They sing new songs and they sing old songs, but if you want to see men get into a song with all their hearts, just watch them—and hear them, too; but watch them—as they let forth their voices and their unbridled interest in a good old-time song. When they go back to business humming the old tunes it is a better day because of the songs they have sung.

IMAGINARY CRUELTY

George Barnard Shaw defends prize fighting; says the "cruelty of the business is imaginary." He does not mean that the combatants do not hurt each other. But "they suffer nothing that is not in the day's work of a hard-trained athlete in any sport."

Certainly prize fighting does not compare to wrestling for so-called cruelty. Certainly it is no worse than football. And anybody who knows anything about a hard game of tennis will tell you that Thilden has punished the wiry Johnston vastly more than many a knocked-out prize fighter has been punished. But why confine the argument to athletics when referring to cruelty? Many a business man, during a siege of long hours and weighty responsibilities, gets a far worse grueling, mentally and physically, than the man who has been knocked for the count of ten.

Prize fighting is not the most ennobling occupation or form of amusement in the world, but the cruelty of it is much more a matter of imagination than of fact.

However, a movie actor who can perform other miracles, such as jumping into the harbor and coming out dry, can probably live on 90 per cent of his former salary.

About the time a girl is passing through the sourpuckle age a boy begins to harbor the conviction that he is a woman hater.

SHARKEY'S MANAGER SAYS SAILOR BEAT BY 2 FOUL PUNCHES

By Associated Press.
New York, July 22.—The controversy over whether Jack Dempsey did or did not foul Jack Sharkey before knocking out the Boston sailor last night raged with increasing rather than diminishing fury today.

Even the slow-motion pictures of the finish in the seventh round failed to settle the dispute. To Tex Rickard, the promoter, and a majority of observers present, the pictures revealed Dempsey's blows to the body to be close to the border line but nevertheless not low enough for disqualification. To others and to Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, the pictures were accepted as proof that two low blows were struck to Sharkey's mid-section just before the left hook that sent the sailor to the floor.

"Sharkey as beaten by two foul punches," Buckley charged, after seeing the pictures. "The pictures prove it."

Sharkey himself, before leaving by automobile this afternoon with his wife for his home in Boston, supported his managers' statement and declared his groin was sore and swollen from Dempsey's low punches. The Boston boxer accused Dempsey of working an old ring trick—getting him (Sharkey) into a position where the referee was behind him—before crashing rights to the body.

Rickard declared the disputed blow as he saw it, "was fair landing in the pit of the stomach." Officials, as well as newspapermen, were widely split on the issue.

In spite of the sharp difference of opinion, no official action is expected to be taken by the State Athletic Commission. Chairman James A. Farley, while declining to express a personal view of the matter, said that Referee O'Sullivan called the decision "as he saw it" and pointed to the fact that the commission has never reversed the verdict of any of its officials.

NEGRO PLEADS GUILTY THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

John L. Morris, negro, 17 years of age, pleaded guilty to theft in connection with the theft of an automobile from another negro, was found guilty in the Thirtieth Judicial District Court Friday morning and was given two years in the penitentiary. Sentence was pronounced by Hawkins Scarborough, district judge.

The complaining witness was asked by Prosecuting Attorney Woods in what county the taking of the car occurred and the answer was "this county," and when interrogated on what State the theft occurred, the reply was "United States."

EXPLANATION GIVEN
PRIMARY PURPOSES OF TAX AMENDMENT

By Associated Press:

Austin, Texas, July 25.—Primary purpose of the tax amendment to the state constitution to be voted on August 1 is to raise the money from which the state government is supported from sources other than used by the counties and their subdivisions, its author, Rev. J. W. Stephens of Victoria says.

Counties would be given the right to assess, collect and use as they saw fit for their own use all property taxes.

The state would segregate to itself whatever occupation, gross receipts, inheritance, poll and intangible taxes and the like deemed necessary to run the government, and would not divide the ad valorem taxes with the counties as it does now.

Each county or district thereof could fix its own ad valorem tax rate.

Under the present constitution, the ad valorem taxes are divided between the counties and their subdivisions and the state, the limit for the latter being 77 cents on the $100 property valuation.

One of the forms of ad valorem tax is the intangible tax, now levied only on railroads, bridge and ferry companies. The state, under the present constitutional provisions, would have to divide with the counties any intangible taxes it might assess against pipe lines, packing houses, telegraph and telephone companies and other industries.

The amendment would make such taxes available only to the state. Intangible taxes now are determined by the state tax commission and no new offices would be created.

The proponents and opponents of the amendment agree its effect may be rather far reaching, if it is adopted. The amendment, however, is brief and reads:

"That Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by inserting therein, Section 1a, as follows:

"Section 1a.—The legislature may separate the objects of taxation for State purposes from the objects of taxation for the support of the counties, districts and political subdivisions of the State and counties, and may provide for the levy of an ad valorem tax or other form of tax, on certain classes of taxable property, or other objects, for state purposes only (including school purposes.) In no event shall the rate of such taxes exceed the sum of the limits of such taxes fixed by the Constitution for State county and other local purposes. The legislature may provide for the classification of objects of taxation. Taxation shall be equal and uniform."

The legislature appropriated $5,000 to defray expenses of printing and the election on the amendment.

BIG BEND COTTON IS REPORTED BE IN GOOD CONDITION

By Associated Press:

Alpine, Texas, July 25.—The latest report on the Big Bend cotton, comprising the counties of Brewster, Presidio, and Jeff Davis, is favorable according to tri-county agent R. S. Miller.

"Prospects were never better for a cotton crop at this time of year," he said. "Farmers along the river state that cotton is fruiting better this year than ever before, and it is estimated that at least a bale of cotton to the acre will be made. No leaf worms or other insects of any kind have made their appearance, and most Big Bend farmers are prepared to ignore leaf worms if they should appear at a later date."

As the Big Bend section is practically a livestock and mining country, very little agriculture is carried on except in the Rio Grande Valley section. Jeff Davis county has approximately 200 acres planted in cotton. Brewster County approximately 300 acres and Presidio County around 700 acres.

WORTHAM TO VOTE ON BONDS FOR NEW
HIGH SCHOOL SOON

Special to the Sun.

Wortham, Texas, July 25.—Voters of the Wortham Independent School district are asked by the school board to approve a $100,000 bond issue for a new high school in an election set for August 13. The new high school erected in 1923 is already overcrowded and will be turned into a junior high school if the bonds are voted. The new school will be for the senior high. Increase in scholastics has made the additional space necessary. C. V. Reed is school superintendent.

DECREASE OF OVER
TWO MILLION BALES
COTTON ESTIMATED

By Associated Press:

Dallas, Texas, July 25.—A decrease of approximately 2,740,000 bales of cotton is estimated for the production in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas in the report issued by R. C. Andrews, district manager of the car service division of the American Railway Association for the first half of July.

"Summing up the entire situation in the four Southwestern States and considering the decrease in acreage and the much smaller quantity of fertilizer used as compared with last year, it would seem that not more than seven million bales will be produced, which compares with 9,742,875 bales produced in 1926," Mr. Andrews said.

"The crop in central, north central and south central sections of the Southwest is in good condition generally. Too much rain in extreme southern sections has continued to interfere with picking and has caused increased weevil and army worm activity, shedding and deterioration. Picking and ginning operations are in progress in southern counties and will extend northward as the season advances. Cotton planted in the flood areas of Louisiana and Arkansas, while getting off fairly well, is probably too late to escape heavy weevil and army worm infection before maturity. The crop in northern sections of Texas is late and although moisture has been plentiful lately the possibility of maturity before frost is exceedingly doubtful. Heavy weevil and flea infestation is reported over a large part of Oklahoma."

"Considerable strength to the cotton market has been shown on account of the probable decrease in production, but stocks on hand, plus this year's indicated production, by no means represents a shortage of cotton for necessary requirements and producers should not be misled by the small advance in price into thinking that the present market strength will be maintained without a systematic and definite effort to market this year's crop in an orderly manner and in proportion to current consumptive demands. In other words, this season's crop must be marketed gradually and only as needed if prices represent the cost of

GIVEN "GRANDMA"
VEST ON JULY 16

On July 16, 1927, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tull of Corsicana, Grandma est celebrated her 71st birthday anniversary with her children and grandchildren who for many years have given her on this day a big dinner. All her children and grandchildren were present except one grandson, Willie Vest, of Alabama, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Elton Boyd, of Oklahoma.

Those present were Mr. Thomas Vest and family, D. F. Brown and family, Eddie Vest and family, George Friddy and family, E. M. Tull and family, Coleman Vest and family, Gurnie Vest and family, Ray Vest and family, Ottilie Price and family, Calvin Ross and family, all of whom were relatives and Floyd Lawrence of Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Corsicana. In all 57 ate dinner with "Grandma" and she seemed to enjoy the day very much as she received several nice presents from her children and grandchildren.

A big white cake was in the center of the table and contained 71 candles that Grandma lit and blew out just before thanks were offered by Mr. Cole and everything else the heart could wish for was there. A great deal of ice tea to drink. In the afternoon pictures were made in different ways and just before they adjourned water melons were served. Such a day of joy and pleasure to those present and we truly wish "Grandma" many more happy days like this one.

production and the profit that producers are entitled to receive." Mr. Andrews cautions that the business situation generally in the Southwest will be affected favorably or unfavorably in proportion to the ration of cotton prices to production costs, and the matter of orderly marketing of this season's crop should have the serious consideration and assistance of all interests.

REPORT ON CROP PESTS AND THEIR FIELD ACTIVITIES

WEEVIL EMERGENCE IS RE-PORTED PRACTICALLY COMPLETE THIS TIME

Special to the Sun.
Washington, July 25.—The following, which is the eighth of a series of reports being issued semi-monthly for season of 1927, includes such reports as are available on cotton insects in the field. Weevil emergence is about complete in hibernation cages at the various points, only two stations, Florence, S. C., and Rocky Mount, N. C., reported any weevils emerging from June 16 to July 1 and at these points only a few. For all practical purposes the figures given in the last report may be considered as final. Reports on cotton insects in the field follow:

Reports on the Boll Weevil.
College Station, Tex.—Dr. F. L. Thomas, July 5. Ideal weather for the multiplication of weevils has prevailed for the past four weeks. Infestation is now very heavy, in some sections amounting to 50 per cent and in some fields in the wooded sections amounting to 100 per cent. It has been very unusual weather for Texas.

Tallulah, La.—On July 4 square examinations were made in nine fields of cotton that were not over-flooded. The punctured squares in these fields ranged from 1.0 to 11.8 per cent, the average being 7.1 per cent.

A. and M. College, Miss. Miss. State Plant Board, July 4.—The heavy weevil injury reported by the State Plant Board a week ago has continued during the past week, according to observations made by inspectors of the Board on 99 farms in 23 counties. The general prevalence of weevils is shown by their presence on 82 of the 99 farms. Infestations running above 20 and 30 per cent were reported from several counties.

Somerville, Tenn. S. P. Dent, June 27. Reports indicate a rather widespread light infestation of weevils.

Auburn, Ala. J. M. Robinson, July 5. A summary of reports from County Agents and Vocational Agricultural teachers shows that there is a general and unusually heavy weevil infestation in the central and southern parts of the State. In south Alabama cotton is well advanced for this season of the year. Mature bolls are common. The first generation of weevils are emerging and some are now depositing eggs. Weather conditions and size of cotton are such as to assure almost 100 per cent emergence of this generation of weevils. On July 27 and 28 the average infestation was 11.9 per cent on dusted plots at Auburn, Ala., compared to 20.4 per cent on the undusted plots.

Fort Valley, Ga. O. I. Snapp, July 1.—Weevils are fairly abundant in this and in adjoining and nearby counties. There has already been some dusting in this section with calcium arsenate for weevil control. Some rain was reported on 17 days during June, and with a good source of weevil infestation, cotton growers are anticipating considerable trouble from the insect this year.

Florence, S. C. E. W. Dunnam, July 5.—From June 27 to July 1 reports of weevil infestation were made on a large number of plantations in the vicinity of Florence, S. C. The average infestation was 15.78 per cent. The average infestation during the same week in 1925 was 1.50 per cent, and in 1925 it was 13.60 per cent.

Clemson College, S. C. C. O. Ed- dy, July 2.—No weevil activity has been noted in this section. A number of reports have been made but all seem doubtful except those in the extreme portion of the Piedmont section.

Raleigh, N. C. R. W. Leiby, from June 15 to 30 in the Aberdeen, N. C., section (Robeson and Scotland Counties) a total of 2,900 squares were examined in 9 different fields of which 294 were punctured. This was an average infestation of 10.1 per cent, the range being from 0 to 24.0 per cent. The plants averaged from 3 to 5 squares each.

In the Rocky Mount, N. C., section plants average about one square each. From May 26 to June 25 a total of 20,100 plants were examined and 4 weevils found. This is an average of 1 weevil to 5,025 plants.

Reports on the Cotton Flea Hopper:
College Station, Tex. Dr. F. L. Thomas, July 5.—Complaints of cotton flea hopper damage have been received from only one section of the State and from there for only a short period. This was in the vicinity of Wharton county.

A. and M. College, Miss. Miss State Plant Board, July 4.—Though cotton hoppers are now present in fields, only very slight injury has been reported this season, which is in marked contrast to the heavy damage occurring on the same date last year.

Somerville, Tenn. S. P. Dent, July 27.—Within the past week cotton hoppers have become general. Today 100 plants were examined in four fields and hoppers found to be plentiful. From 30 to 75 per cent of the forms destroyed by them.

Auburn, Ala. J. M. Robinson, July 5.—Cotton flea hoppers have no shown up in south and central Alabama in very large numbers as only a few adults and nymphs have been found, either by sweepings or close observation.

Fort Valley, Ga. O. I. Snapp, July 1.—We have very few complaints of the cotton hopper in middle Georgia this year.

Florence, S. C. E. W. Dunnam, July 5.—We have received no complaints of hopper damage in this section of the State this season.

Clemson College, S. C. C. O. Ed- dy, July 2.—Cotton flea hopper

CORSICANA LAWYER DELIVERED ADDRESS BEFORE BROTHERHOOD

BRYAN METHODIST ORGANI-ZATION HEAR FRED UP-CHURCH ON CITIZENSHIP

The following, taken from the Bryan Daily Eagle, giving an account of a meeting of the Wesleyan Brotherhood of the Methodist Church of that city which was addressed by Hon. Fred Upchurch of Corsicana and Major W. G. Martin, dean of Allen Academy, will be read with interest in Corsicana:

With Judge Fred Upchurch of Corsicana speaking on "Citizenship," and Major W. G. Martin, dean of Allen Academy, speaking on "Straws," the members of the Wesleyan Brotherhood of the Methodist Church last night heard two of the best addresses ever given before the organization. The menu was served by the purple division of the Philanthropic class, with Mrs. J. E. Covey as director, and the excellent food was in keeping with the splendid program.

Two musical numbers added much to the evening's program, which was under the direction of Hon. Oak McKenzie, assisted by J. E. Bryant and Scripps Mitchell.

"We should treat the living with the same kindness that we instinctively treat the honored dead," urged Judge Upchurch in pleading for greater consideration of our fellow men. In asking for patience with the frailties of human nature, he stated, "he who does no harm also does no good. Patriotism, loyalty, courage, and common sense are four of the essentials of a good citizen, he said. Flashing the powers of a genuine orator, he graphically told of visiting the tombs of Europe's and America's most honored dead, and declared that the only way that we could pay our debt of gratitude to the heroes of the past was by trying to live the lives of good citizens.

In a classical address, Major W. G. Martin immediately plunged into his unique subject of "Straws" by lashing Sinclair Lewis, by perpetrating his fraud, "Elmer Gantry," upon the public, which gave foreigners the wrong impression of America, the chief champion of Christianity. His audience thoroughly appreciated the way in which he lacerated the author, and appeared as though it would like to hear more. "How a man of the intellect and attainments of Sinclair Lewis can be willing to leave to posterity such trash is more than I can understand," he exclaimed.

Corporation Court Docket is Heavier

The police docket showed that business was a little better in police department circles over the week-end. Several boys are alleged to have staged a negro riot at the Ideal theatre and made their escape down the alley adjoining the theatre building. Three persons were charged with making the city streets speedways and trying out their motors thereon and attaining a high rate of speed. One youth was arrested on charges of stealing plumbing fixtures from vacant houses and was turned over to the county.

One man was charged with peddling without a license and he was old under that charge. One driver was charged with failing to stop his car at a boulevard sign. Three persons were charged with affrays and one was charged with being drunk and using abusive language in addition thereto. Adjustment of an automobile crash was asked by one of the parties thereto.

Close Successful Revival at Farmer

Rev. O. W. Milburn, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church at Embouse and Rev. W. C. Banks, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church at Comanche, Okla., have just closed a most successful revival meeting at Farmer and will open a meeting at Black Hills Monday night.

developed in large numbers on Evening Primrose and some of these migrated to cotton, causing only a small amount of damage. Infestation of hoppers on both Evening Primrose and cotton is much less than before the long cold wet weather of the last of June. Infestation on Croton is building up slowly.

Rocky Mount, N. C. Dr. R. W. Leiby, July 1.—No cotton flea hoppers observed but some supposedly hopper damage has been seen.

Miscellaneous
College Station, Texas. Dr. F. L. Thomas, July 5.—Leaf worms are now abundant in some fields in the vicinity of Corpus Christi, Texas. Cotton that has been stripped by leaf worms is common in the territory as far northward as San Marcos and eastward to Houston. A definite report was also received today of the presence of one moth and one caterpillar in Hill county.

Considerable concern is felt as to what the boll worm is going to do. We are beginning experimental work in ginning the first generation in cotton which is just now beginning.

Clemson College, S. C. C. O. Ed- dy, July 2.—Cotton seedlings were injured more severely by thrips than all other cotton insects throughout most of the Piedmont section. Three species were found on this injured cotton. Dwarfed seedlings having ragged and mal-formed leaves were common.

LIEUT. CHAMPION FAILS IN EFFORT ALTITUDE RECORD

AT FIRST THOUGHT HE HAD REACHED HEIGHT OF OVER
NINE MILES

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 25.—After battling flames in his airplane to protect the records of an unofficial world's record altitude flight estimated at 48,000 feet, Lieutenant C. C. Champion, naval flier, received the stunning news that the Bureau of Standards today that on preliminary reading his battered barographs would only show 39,000 feet.

Unless revised readings should change this result, Champion must for the present at least, leave to Callizo, the Frenchman, the official honor of having flown highest—40,820 feet.

The barographs were badly damaged by the fire which broke out on the plane during Champion's descent, and he risked his life by remaining with the plane in order that he might save them.

Believed to Have Made New Record

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 25.—Lieutenant C. C. Champion, crack naval aviator, brought a flaming airplane to earth today with a new world's record for altitude—48,000 feet.

Fighting the blaze with his own hands to save his precious recording instruments, Champion landed in a corn field two miles from the naval air station at Anacostia after having been aloft for less than two hours.

One of the barographs seemed entirely destroyed but the other appeared to be only slightly damaged. The blaze broke out as Champion was descending. The condition of the instruments will determine whether the aviator is to be credited with the record officially. Callizo, the Frenchman, ascended 40,820 feet last August, and his figures are recognized internationally as the highest for airplanes.

Champion already holds the unofficial record for altitude in a seaplane, having reached a height of 23,155 feet at Hampton Roads in May.

Commissioner's Court.

Representatives of the majority of the banks of Navarro county were on hand at the meeting of the commissioner's court Monday morning as a board of equalization. The contention of the bankers was to the effect that the taxing of banks at 50 per cent of the combined capital stock, surplus and undivided profits, less the real estate, was too much and out of line with other property.

The bankers were contending vigorously that in view of other reductions 40 per cent was enough. The meeting adjourned without any agreement being reached, officials of the court stated.

FOUR PERSONS HELD WITHOUT BAIL DUE DEATH YOUNG WOMAN

SEATTLE MUSIC TEACHER
DISAPPEARS AFTER PARTY ON YACHT

By Associated Press.

Seattle, July 25.—Four persons, including F. Greigh Nelson, wealthy Seattle clubman, were held in the county jail today without bail as police and county authorities sought to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Miss Violet Maud Payne, 34-year-old Seattle music teacher, who disappeared early Wednesday last after a party aboard Nelson's yacht.

The prisoners, in addition to Nelson are E. E. Barrington, assistant secretary of the Seattle Yacht Club, at which the boat was moored; A. F. Bell, skipper of the yacht, and Mrs. A. F. Gorman.

All four were at the party which preceded Miss Payne's disappearance.

The music teacher's body was found Saturday in Lake Union a few rods from the yacht, but the cause of her death has not been determined.

Claim Woman Vanished.
Walking into police headquarters last Thursday, the day after Miss Payne disappeared, Bell and Mrs. Gorman told officers that the woman "vanished" during the party.

Bell declared Miss Payne and Mrs. Gorman had been the only persons at the party and that it was held without Nelson's knowledge.

The four were arrested last night after police had received a "tip" that Barrington knew something of Miss Payne's death. After several hours of grilling by detectives, all four admitted that they were at the party.

The story they told then was that Bell, Mrs. Gorman, Barrington and Miss Payne went aboard the yacht late Tuesday night and Nelson arrived "sometime later."

Drinking is Admitted.
Some of them admitted drinking at the party but all denied that they were drunk. They related that while leaving the yacht early Wednesday, Miss Payne slipped and fell into the water as she leaped from the boat to the dock. All the others were eye witnesses, they said, to the supposed drowning.

Efforts to rescue the music teacher were unavailing, they declared, and it was decided to "hush up" the affair for fear of publicity.

After an autopsy, coroner's deputy, physicians and pathologists were unable to determine the cause of the woman's death. There was little indication that she had been drowned. A bruised eye was described as one that "could easily have been made by a blow of the fist." A second and more complete autopsy was ordered in an effort to solve the mystery.

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK MADE UPON AN AGED COUPLE AT MARSHALL

By The Associated Press.

Marshall, Texas, July 25.—A mysterious attack on an aged couple, living in the western rural section of Harrison County, was reported to county officers today.

While asleep on their screen porch Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Schofield, 67 and 68, respectively, were rendered unconscious by an anesthetic administered through the wire of the porch. After some time it was reported, Schofield regained consciousness, for three hours, he worked reviving his wife.

Mrs. Schofield said she believed the motive was robbery but nothing was missing.

Schofield went before the grand jury in session here to report the attack.

ANOTHER HOSPITAL AND CLINIC UNDER CONSTRUCTION HERE

On the third floor is located eight private bed rooms, with connecting baths, and two 2-bed wards, a diet kitchen and a large solarium on the south side of the building.

Operating Section On Fourth.
The fourth or top floor of the handsome building contains the operating section across the east end of the structure, with the large, modernly equipped operating room on the northeast corner, with a large skylight on the north.

Adjoining the operating room is the delivery room, scrub up and sterilizing room and supply room. This floor also contains four private rooms, with bath; two 2-bed wards, a diet kitchen and the baby ward.

The operating section in this hospital and clinic is the very latest in arrangement and equipment, with sanitary trim, tile floors and walls throughout.

All windows of the Baby ward and solarium are glazed with Vita Glass, permitting the patients to receive the full benefit of the sun's rays, which it is agreed by all competent medical authorities are of great benefit to alling humanity in many cases. This is the first installation in Texas of this new material, it being used successfully in the East and at the famous Mayo's hospital in Rochester, Minn.

Sanitary Features Carried Out.
All trim on the first, third and fourth floors is sanitary trim and that used on the second floor is to be selected birch. The exterior will be of light grey matt-faced brick, trimmed with limestone, and the building will carry a slate roof.

The whole building is the very latest in hospital designing, thoroughly fireproof, with all the latest equipment possible for a building of this kind and purpose, including signal systems from all rooms to the different nurses' stations. There will be provision in the Navarro Hospital and Clinic for twenty-six patients, not including the baby ward, which will care for six or seven little folks in all. It is a building which, when completed and added to the hospital and clinic facilities of Corsicana, will go a long way toward giving this city the reputation of being the possessor of modern hospital and clinic facilities that will compare favorably with any city of its size in the country.

The doctors in the Navarro Hospital and Clinic are Drs. J. Wilson David, E. H. Newton, Homer B. Jester, T. O. Willis, and W. R. Sneed. H. O. Blanding is architect for the building and J. E. Metcalf & Son are contractors.

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, July 25.—Every member of the legislature, as well as the governor of Texas would be in line for increased compensation if the proposed amendment concerning their salaries and that of the Governor is adopted at the August 1 special election. The proposed amendment has been referred to quite frequently as that to permit the salary of the governor to be raised from $4,000 to $10,000 a year. That is only part of it, as it gives authority to make the compensation of each legislator not to exceed $1,500 a year.

In addition to the salary the governor would be given occupancy and use of the Governor's Mansion, fixtures and furniture.

The present pay for legislators is $5 per day for the first 60 days of the session, and $2 a day for more than the 60 days. Each also is entitled mileage of not exceeding $5.00 for each 25 miles to and from each session. The mileage is computed by "dirt road" on the basis of the most direct and nearest route. The comptroller must keep a table of distances by dirt road to compute the mileage.

The proposed amendment would provide the legislator be reimbursed only his actual traveling expenses to and from the capitol.

This proposed amendment is brief and reads that Article XVII of the constitution be amended by inserting a new section to be known as "30a" which reads:

"All provisions of the present constitution of Texas fixing or limiting the amount of salary or compensation of officers and members of the legislature are hereby repealed, and hereafter said officers and members of the legislature shall receive such salary or compensation and expenses as are provided by law. The salary of the governor shall be ten thousand ($10,000) per year, and no more, payable monthly, and shall have the occupancy and use of the Governor's man, fixtures and furniture.

The salary or compensation of any member of the legislature shall not exceed fifteen hundred dollars per year, and actual traveling expenses from the place of residence to the capitol, and returning each session of the legislature as shall hereafter be provided by law; and provided that no change of salary or compensation from that now provided by the Constitution shall become effective until the first day of January following the first general election held after the adoption of this amendment."

The intention of the legislature was to provide for free tuition for all high school children.

MANY OCEAN HOPS PLANNED TO EVERY QUARTER OF GLOBE

By Associated Press.
Boston, July 25.—For the first time since the Atlantic and Pacific flights which made them famous, eight of America's leading aviators were brought together today.

At a breakfast tendered by Mayor Malcolm Nichols at the Hotel Bellevue, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who was given a tumultuous greeting in Boston yesterday, was joined by Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert E. Hegenberger, Pacific fliers, Commander Richard E. Byrd, and three on the Pacific coast, Lieutenant George O. Noville, Bert Acosta and Jerni Balchen, and Clarence D. Chamberlin who flew to Germany.

By Associated Press.
New York, July 25.—While Boston today played host to eight aviators who had dared the Atlantic and Pacific in record non-stop flights, the interest of two hemispheres was focused on other projects designed to add new chapters to aerial history.

At Calicut, England, Captain P. T. Courtney awaited favorable weather as he completed final adjustments of his Giant Dornier flying boat in which he hopes to make the first non-stop trip to New York. Little hope was held out for clear skies before Monday.

To Rome in A Hop
In the Fokker airplane works at Insubrouck Heights N. J., workmen were rapidly completing the model plane "Old Girl" which will be piloted by James J. Hill, air mail flier, will attempt to reach Rome in a single hop. Bert Balchen, who safely landed "Commander" Richard E. Byrd's America off the French coast, plans to take the plane up on its initial factory test Monday.

At Detroit, Paul R. Redfern awaited installation of special instruments and completion of tests in the Stinson-Detroit monoplaner in which he will try to jump the 4,300 mile race from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, about August 5. He plans to hop off early Wednesday from the Georgia city.

Hint of an attempt of a non-stop flight from Germany to America was seen in a statement issued at the Junkers Airplane works at Dessau, Germany, in connection with the endurance flights of Friedrich Looze and Johann Riese, which began early yesterday morning. "If the flight succeeds both pilots as well as the machine and motor will have brought proof of their fitness for crossing the ocean," says the statement. The planes carried sufficient gas for a sixty hour flight.

From the Leviathan
Clarence D. Chamberlin, who flew from New York to Germany, has accepted an invitation from Chairman O'Connor of the Shiping Board to hop off from the liner Leviathan which is scheduled to sail for Europe on August 1. Chamberlin, who is a skillful and successful flier.

Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger, San Francisco to Hawaii fliers, met Franklin Rasche at Roosevelt field when they stopped off en route to Washington to Boston, and his "chimpanzee" Balchen, Bert Acosta and Jerni Balchen, left with Chamberlin for Boston last night. They made the concentration of America's aviators in that city complete, as Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had arrived amid loud acclamations yesterday on his nation-wide tour under sponsorship of the Guggenheim Foundation.

ARREST COSMETIC SALESMAN EXPECTED TO BARE THEFT RING
By Associated Press.
Los Angeles, July 25.—Federal officers arrested Clifford Davidson, a cosmetic salesman, here yesterday as a suspected member of an automobile theft ring accredited with the theft of more than 200 cars.

The authorities declared the most of the stolen cars were transported from the states in which they were stolen to other states, the engine numbers and the bodies changed and sold to innocent purchasers.

The specific charges against Davidson was the theft of an automobile in Fort Worth, Texas, and transporting it to Long Beach where he sold it.

Federal officers said several additional arrests probably would be made here. They declared they were prepared to ask indictments of nearly a dozen wealthy men in California, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. These men were said to have accepted cash payment in helping the actual automobile thieves.

Brown Webster of Dallas was a Corsicana visitor today.

STATE'S ATTORNEY EXPECTS SEND THREE PERSONS TO GALLOWS

By Associated Press.
Franklin, La., July 25.—Two motions to quash the jury venire were made here today by defense counsel at the opening of the trial of Mrs. Ada Bonner Lehoucq, Dr. Thomas E. Dreher and James Bende, charged with murdering James Lehoucq, husband of the woman defendant.

The first motion sought to have the venire set aside, because among other things it was alleged four names were duplicated which made the number 296 instead of 300.

Judge James D. Simon overruled the motion after it had been argued for more than two hours.

After the lunch recess a second motion was made which sought to quash the jury venire on the allegation that persons who were not jury commissioners had aided in selecting the list.

When the court reconvened after lunch there was a larger crowd than ever before packed into the court room. Many were standing in the rear and bulging into the aisles.

During a recess while the second motion was being argued, Judge Simon announced that night sessions would be held beginning tonight.

By Associated Press.
Franklin, La., July 25.—while defense attorneys remained silent as to their plans, the State announced today it was ready to start its effort to send three persons to the gallows for alleged murder of James J. Lehoucq, superintendent of the Morgan City branch of the Louisiana Public Utilities Company.

Trials of the three defendants, Mrs. Ada Bonner Lehoucq, widow of the victim; Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, prominent Morgan City physician, and James Bende, fisherman and trapper, was scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock in the St. Mary parish courthouse.

The defendants were brought in to court at 9:45 a. m.

Mrs. Dreher later entered the room and was given a seat beside her husband.

James R. Parkinson, chief defense counsel, moved that the jury venire be set aside on the ground that four names were duplicated, leaving the total number 296 instead of 300.

Wilbur H. Kramer, clerk of court, was examined by Mr. Parkinson in an effort to prove his contention concerning the jury venire.

The three hundred talesmen were additional to the panel of thirty summoned today for jury service.

Mr. Kramer answered a number of technical questions concerning his duties as ex-officio jury commissioner.

Mr. Parkinson contended there were other irregularities in drawing the panel which were "wrongful, fraudulent and illegal."

He based his contention on the allegation that in supplementing the jury list with ninety-one names the jury commissioners did not pick any names from the sixth ward and not "more than one" from the eighth ward in St. Mary's Parish.

The motion by defense attorneys to quash the jury panel, after being argued until noon, was overruled by the court.

The defendants were taken from the room at 12:10 and court was recessed for lunch until 1:15 p. m.

The 1927 Lone Indian Fraternity convention August 12 and 14. It is to be held in connection with the 1927 Council Conference of Council Region 7.

The Region 9 Conference and Rally is to be held at the Boy Scout Camp, Camp Wilson, Dallas, where houses will be provided with bunks, and there will be plenty of room to carry on our activities, with nothing to disturb us. There is also a fine swimming pool there.

Through the work of Walter Tomlinson, Region Nine's Publicity Chairman, Rising Star, Texas, managers have been made to have WFAA, the Dallas News' broadcast station, whereby we are to have in our hour on the program, Guy E. Aybright, Pathe cameraman, states that should we have a crowd sufficient to justify it, he will photograph the event for the Pathe News Reel.

The Rally assessment is only fifty cents for which you get your meals during the Rally. Many Scouts have signified their intention of coming, and we want you too.

Thomas V. Freeman, Council Treasurer, has inaugurated a pledge system to build up the Council Treasury and asks the full cooperation of the Lone Scouts in this district. To achieve success the council must have money and every Scout possible has been studied by Tom. The pledge plan has been selected. Some have pledged fifty cents per month. If you cannot spare that much a month, drop down. Anything will be accepted from a nickel to well, set your own limit. Send all pledges to Thomas V. Freeman, Gatesville, Texas.

"Coy T. Walther says all of the 'Arkansas Scout' subscriptions will be turned over to 'Sunset Trail'."

The anniversary "Kokoniut" is out with forty-four pages of real Scouting, an da large photo page. National Council Chief Roy MacDonald, requests Preston Brown, assistant Council Chief of Region 6, to act as Council Chief until Mr. Benson decides who he wants to fill the vacancy.

Last but not least, let me ask that every Lone Scout in this County write to me and let me know what his Degree standing is, so that in case I should be called on to make a report for the county, I could do so. My address is Embouse, Texas.

ROUMANIANS HONOR THEIR DEAD KING THOUSANDS SEE BODY

By Associated Press.
Bucharest, Rumania, July 23.—More than 250,000 Rumanians have honored their dead king by filing past his bier in Cotroceni Palace. Thousands and thousands from outlying places continued to arrive in the capital today by all sorts of conveyances and before Ferdinand's body was laid to rest Sunday in the Royal Mausoleum at Curtea De Arges.

Many more thousands will have gazed upon the features of the "Father," as the Rumanians choose to call him. The King is dressed in the khaki uniform of the commander-in-chief of the army. In his right hand is a silver crucifix, while at his feet rests a silver crown, the imperial sceptre and a field marshal's baton. At the head of the bier stands his favorite priest, in tonsure prayer. While robed Sisters of Charity, who nursed the King through his last days, are at the foot.

Wanted to See America.
Queen Marie, receiving the correspondents told of Ferdinand's longing to see America.

"It was the King's ardent wish to visit America before he died," she said, "but now it is too late."

There were tears in the Queen's eyes when she referred to Ferdinand as "a great King, a good man and the kindest of husbands. His simplicity, humility and greatness of heart endeared him to everybody. His whole life was one sacrifice."

She asked that the correspondents convey to her friends in America her sincere appreciation for the many touching messages of sympathy that have come to her.

The boy king, Michael, was brought in by Princess Helen, his mother. The boy king, Michael, eyed queen mother seemed unable in his childish innocence to realize his grandfather, who only lately had presented him with an American Teddy Bear and toys, was dead, and that, although less than six years old, he had inherited the mantle and would wear the golden crown of Greater Rumania and control the destinies of fifteen million persons.

Don't Cry.
"Don't cry, grandfather will come back to us and the little fellow in perfect English to the Queen, who was quite overcome by his baby-like reassurance."

The most pathetic scene in the room was Princess Helen, who, after suffering from the ignominy of desertion by her husband, Carol, now is called upon to bear the loss of her father-in-law to whom she was deeply attached.

TEXAS BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING ACCORDING TO REPORTS RECENTLY COMPILED

Special to the Sun.
Austin, Texas, July 25.—With the beginning of the second half of the year of June 1, business conditions in Texas were in a much better condition than was hoped for last January, according to statistics and general information received by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas at Austin.

Dr. A. B. Cox is director. The following report compiled by Bernard Nichols, secretary of the Bureau, covering the month of June, has just been issued:

"The business situation in Texas and the southwest was favorable in June. A few reports are coming to hand which are not as optimistic as they might be, but industry generally made satisfactory gains and business begins the second half of the year in a much better condition than was hoped for last January. The damage from drought during April and May proved to be less severe than at first expected because of beneficial rains throughout the state. Moreover, the markets for farm produce have advanced sharply over the past few weeks, carrying prices of some agricultural products above last year's levels at this time."

Oil Industry Perplexing.
"Possibly the most perplexing situation at the present time is the oil industry. Overproduction has hampered the industry to such an extent that field activity is less than half of what it was a few months back. Unless further retrenchment in production takes place, it will possibly be several months before the industry is operating normally again."

"Last year's huge cotton crop is moving into consumptive channels at record rate and the carry-over of American cotton on August 1 will be only slightly larger than that of a year ago. During June 664,000 bales were used in the United States, and exports for the eleven months of the cotton year are nearly 11,000,000 bales. The July report of the United States Crop Reporting Board shows a reduction of 10 per cent from the previous harvest of last year. This reduction coupled with the rather poor start of the present crop, has advanced cotton prices some six cents a pound over the price last December. The corn crop is well above average this year and wheat harvesting is making rapid progress in the state."

"Livestock and range conditions were very much improved in June. After the rains, livestock responded quickly to fresh pastures and so the flesh was more than enough to offset the loss in May. Shipments of beef and calves were rather light but producers received the highest prices in several years. Hogs and sheep suffered a further decline in prices although the market maintained a stronger tone. Wool and mohair were in good demand at higher prices."

"Allowing for seasonal factors, building permits made a good showing. Activity in the lumber industry compares favorably with that of June 1926. Daily average production of petroleum fell off slightly and field activity dropped sharply."

"Shipments of fruits and vegetables moved to market in large volume. While prices were lower than in May, producers are finding truck crops an important source of income. Tomatoes and watermelons are the most important crops going to market at the present time."

Better Weather.
"Better weather during the latter part of the month aided farmers in catching up with their work. Most crops made satisfactory progress, although some sections report cotton plants are growing too much to weed."

"Trade at wholesale and retail declined seasonally. Retail sales were smaller by eight per cent than those of June last year and first-hand store sales show an increase. Consumption of cotton by Texas mills was greater by 6.3 per cent than the May figure."

"Money continues easy. At the first of the month, interest notes firmed seasonally but most of the increase was lost before the end of the month. Ample funds are readily available for commercial needs and borrowers are experiencing little difficulty in making loans for productive purposes. Bank deposits were below those of May and also under those of June a year ago. Net demand deposits fell off slightly from May but time deposits show a small increase. The number of corporations receiving charters was increased over the previous month and the number of failures was smaller."

"Business generally is in a position where production and consumption are about evenly balanced. It is true that activity is less than half of the year's somewhat under the first half of 1926, but this situation is reason for optimism because of the stabilized position which industry is enjoying at the present time."

"The building industry in Texas fell off somewhat in June from the records of previous months. Building permits of 25 cities reporting to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research dropped from $10,512,000 in May to $8,671,000 in June, making a total of $62,194,000 for the first six months of the year. Comparable figures for these cities for previous years are not available, but an estimate shows that permits in 1927 are considerably ahead of any former year. Most of the decrease in June is accounted for by the drop in San Antonio."

FIRST KING OF GREATER RUMANIA RESTS IN CHURCH

By Associated Press.

Bucharest, Rumania, July 25.—Ferdinand, first King of Greater Rumania, rested today in the peaceful white marble church at Curtea De Arges, beside the ashes of his great-uncle, Carol, whose work he extended.

Standing out among the floral tributes was a huge wreath of fleur-de-lys and a pillow of white roses, placed by Queen Marie after the interment yesterday. She had picked the fleur-de-lys herself; the pillow was placed in behalf of Prince Carol, Prince Carol, the King's errant son, who renounced his rights to the throne and now is living virtually in exile in France.

Borne by generals, the coffin was placed on a gun carriage for the hour's march to the monastery in the hills where the last rites were held. A thousand priests marched behind the coffin. At the same hour services were held in all churches throughout Rumania, while everywhere salutes were fired and bells tolled.

Marie Seems Near Collapse.
Queen Marie appeared on the verge of collapse several times during the ceremonies at the monastery. She swooned earlier in the day after kissing her husband before the coffin was sealed at the conclusion of a service in the royal chapel adjoining Cotroceni Palace.

As the royal party was leaving the church 6-year-old King Michael, ruled by reason of his father's renunciation of his royal prerogatives, asked: "Are they going to leave grandpa here alone? Can't I stay with him?"

Queen Marie explained: "The poor little chap does not know what it is all about. He knows only that he has lost a dearest relative. It was the King's habit to give his grandson a little present every day."

Thousands of mournful Rumanians watched as the procession moved to the railway station for the 150 mile journey to Curtea De Arges.

Queen Talks of Carol.
Queen Marie is convinced Carol will not attempt to gain the throne of Rumania.

"I think," she told the correspondent, "that out of respect for the memory of his father, who sacrificed everything for him, Prince Carol will remain outside of the country, but what political intrigues may force him to do is another thing."

When she was asked if her son had expressed any repentance before the King died, she broke down and between sobs said: "Neither the King nor myself received a single word from him. It was his pitiless indifference, silence and continued indiscretions in Paris which broke the King's heart and hastened his death. But the King in his will and final letter to Princess Brattiano expressed toward his first-born the same extraordinary generosity and forgiveness which formed such a striking part of his character."

"Carol's single act when he learned that the King had died, was to telegraph to his sister, Marie, asking her to place white roses as near as possible to the King's body."

OREGON CONGRESSMAN ENDS LIFE BY PLUNGING INTO BAY; SUFFERING FROM BREAKDOWN

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, Calif., July 25.—The cause of a breakdown which led Representative M. E. Crumpacker, of Oregon, to end his own life by plunging into San Francisco Bay yesterday, was a mystery among his friends here today.

Crumpacker, who was serving his second term in Congress, had been acting strangely since his arrival here Friday as a member of a party of Representative Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House, who is touring the West.

Saturday night the Oregon Congressman was found sitting on a street curbing in the downtown district. He was taken to a hospital which later produced a record showing he had been entered there as "sober" but held for observation. Police were forbidden to discuss his case and hospital attendants would not do so.

Crumpacker at that time told police that he had been poisoned and insisted that he wanted to die where he was. He had to be taken to the hospital by force. There his case finally was diagnosed as inflammation of the heart muscles. He was not in bed an sedatives administered. Hospital attaches said they had also given the patient treatment for poisoning because of his own statements.

Speaker Longworth, who was spending a week end at the home of former Senator James D. Phelan, at Saratoga, Calif., said Crumpacker was to have been a member of the Phelan party, but failed to join the group after separating from them Friday.

Longworth said he supposed the Congressman had found some old college friends of whom he had spoken. Longworth disclosed that Crumpacker had complained of inability to sleep on the trip from Portland to San Francisco, but had seemed well on the journey south. He declared the Congressman's home life was ideal, and was unable to offer any reason for the breakdown.

Believed He Was Victim of Plot

San Francisco, July 25.—A suicide note apparently written by Congressman Maurice E. Crumpacker of Portland, Ore., shortly before he leaped to his death in San Francisco Bay yesterday, was found today and indicated that the Representative was suffering under the delusion that he was the victim of a plot.

The note, which was turned over to the police, read in part: "I'm sorry I can't live to help protect my family that they might hear my side of the story. Good-bye Cully. (his wife) Jim, Ted and Peter. I've tried to call you by phone but they will not connect me. They have killed me. Take good care of our fine boys. I must get this in some one's hands. Every employee is against me. God bless you, Maurice."

SHOCK LAND INTO PRODUCTION LATEST IN AGRICULTURE

By The Associated Press.
Rochester, N. Y., July 23.—The Rochester Journal and Post Express says today that by electro-cultivation of the soil by impregnation with 103,000 volts of electricity through the medium of a plow which transmits the voltage into the earth has been tried in experiments with some success on the farms of Donald Woodward, millionaire agriculturalist, at Le Roy, N. Y.

The process is the invention of Hamilton L. Roe, of Pittsburgh, who declares that it not only eliminates weeds and destroys bacteria and harmful grubs but restores the fertility of farm lands and produces crops in record time. The plow is drawn behind a tractor equipped with a generator which transmits the electrical energy to the plow, whence it passes through several blades to the earth.

The newspaper says that in an experiment on a field sown with buckwheat, the half cultivated by the electrical plow was for the first time clean of weeds, the seeds germinated in eight hours and the plants were nearly twice as high as in the other half, which was treated with 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre. In tests with fields of corn, beans and potatoes, it was found that the seed germinated in five days under electrical treatment of the soil, while sixteen days were required for germination of the par treated only with fertilizer.

DUNCAN BEER BILL VETOED FRIDAY BY WISCONSIN GOVERNOR

By Associated Press.
Madison, Wis., July 22.—The Duncan beer bill which would have allowed the manufacture and sale in Wisconsin of beer containing 7.5 per cent alcohol by weight was vetoed today by Governor Fred B. Zimmerman.

The measure the governor pointed out is invalid attempts by legislation to nullify the law of the land, and would bring "odium, ridicule and disgrace" to the name of the state.

MISTAKE GASOLINE FOR WATER; ONE IS DEAD AS RESULT

By The Associated Press.
Borger, Texas, July 23.—A mistake in which gasoline was thought to be water cost the life of W. A. Stevens today.

A bucket of gasoline was thrown on Stevens and ignited from a nearby fire. Stevens was burned so badly he died several hours later. Harry Smith and Elmer Gaston were burned while trying to save Stevens.

Fellow workmen said Stevens had let water from a hose hit another man and the contents of a bucket thought to contain water, but which held gasoline, was thrown on Stevens in playful retaliation.

Stevens is survived by a widow and two small children. His body will be taken to Tulsa for burial.

FIVE YEAR SUSPENDED FOR YOUTH CHARGED ASSAULT TO MURDER

The jury in the case of the State of Texas vs. Howard Ford, charged by indictment with assault with intent to murder in connection with the killing of S. L. Markham of Dallas, formerly of Corsicana, in an altercation at Richland June 11, 1927, returned a verdict of guilty in the Thirteenth Judicial District Court Friday morning and assessed his punishment at five years in the penitentiary but recommended the sentence be suspended. The youth was sentenced by Hawkins Scarborough, district judge.

Ford is 22 years of age, married, weight 118 pounds, while Markham weighed 168 or 170 pounds at the time of the trouble. His age was 17 years.

The testimony introduced in the trial tended to show that the two men, both employees of the Texas Power & Light Company, at Richland, had had arguments and trouble the night before the cutting of Markham. Markham had his neck slashed with a knife and also suffered wounds in the shoulder. It was alleged that the knife used was an "East Dallas Special."

The accused entered a plea of guilty and asked for the suspended sentence through his attorney, R. R. Owen, appointed by the court. The trial for the State was conducted by L. J. Woods, county attorney. In the argument of the attorneys, the county attorney against the suspended sentence in the case while the defense attorney asked for it, both attorneys going into the details of the testimony. The accused sat at the bench with his youthful wife and 11-months-old baby nearby. He has been in the county jail since the trouble occurred.

Witnesses testifying for the State included S. L. Markham of Dallas, the complaining witness; Mrs. Lizzie Lansford, Richland; H. Murphy, member of the gang on which both were working; H. M. Harris of Waco, formerly with the Texas Power and Light Company; W. N. Markham and S. L. Markham after the conclusion of the defense witnesses, and County Attorney L. J. Woods with reference to a purported confession made the following day by the accused.

The defense witnesses were Mrs. Ford, wife of the accused, and the accused man. Ford was subjected to a grueling cross-examination by the county attorney.

SECRET SERVICE MEN RAID PLANT IN FULL OPERATION; 3 ARRESTS

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, July 23.—Arthur R. Miller, 41, A. N. Graham, 36, and Oscar Poe, 31, were charged with counterfeiting before United States Commissioner Winston McMahon Saturday.

Bonds of $10,000 were set in each of the cases.

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, July 23.—Charges were to be filed Saturday against three men following a raid by Secret Service agents and city detectives upon a well equipped plant for the making of counterfeit bills here Friday night.

When Edward Tyrrell, R. L. Maddox, and G. F. Cook, secret service men, aided by city detectives, raided the four room house, the counterfeit plant was in full operation, the officers said.

One of the men arrested at the house handed one of the officers a copper plate fresh from the solution, as he stepped into the back room of the house.

"We were not expecting visitors," the man explained later. "I thought you were my partner."

The third man was arrested shortly after the raid in a downtown hotel. A woman found with him was later released.

The house contained one of the most complete plants for the making of spurious currency he had ever seen Tyrrell said.

Two rooms were used for equipment and the other two for sleeping quarters by the men.

In one of the rooms, strong electric lights and cameras for making photographs of genuine bills were found. The other room contained equipment for making copper plates from the negatives, paper, various kinds of ink, and other paraphernalia.

Officers believed that the raid stopped a scheme to flood this section with bogus bills. The plant was capable of turning out $100,000 worth of counterfeit bills, of $5, $10, $20, $50, and $1000 denominations, the officers said.

SHOW DEMPSEY'S STOMACH BLOW FAIR

By Associated Press.
New York, July 22.—The official slow motion pictures of the Sharkey-Dempsey fight showing the mugging in the seventh round, revealed today that the disputed blow which contributed to Dempsey's victory was apparently fair. The films were shown only to newspaper men.

"Tex Rickard, promoter of last night's exhibition, was one of the witnesses to today's showing. He said that in his opinion the blow was 'a fair one, right in the pit of the stomach.'"

The film was run off three times to permit the newspaper men to compare their judgments. The slow motions of the fighters revealed that Dempsey struck three hard rights to the stomach of Sharkey before delivering the left to the jaw that knocked out his opponent.

The pictures showed that Sharkey was wearing his trunks pulled up higher than Dempsey was wearing his which led newspaper men today to assert that this fact had probably contributed to much of the confusion of the witnesses of the bout.

"I have never seen heavyweights fight as fast as they did last night," said Tex Rickard, as he watched a showing of the pictures. "There was as much action in the seven rounds as you will ordinarily see in fifteen rounds. The fighters fought every second and there was surprisingly little clinching."

As the slow motion picture of the seventh round was shown Tex leaned intently forward in his chair, his eyes gleaming at the darkened projecting room.

"There goes the right," said Rickard to a reporter of the Associated Press. "It lands in the pit of the stomach. The blow as I see it is fair. Now the left goes to the jaw. That's the knockout. All very plain."

U. S. CITIZEN IS KIDNAPPED; LARGE RANCH IS OCCUPIED

By Associated Press.
Washington, July 23.—Kidnaping of an American citizen by Mexican bandits and the occupation of the 75,000 acre ranch of another were reported to the State Department today coincident with the receipt of a note from the Mexican foreign office expressing regret at the attack on William E. Chapman, American Consul at Puerto Mexico.

The advice said civil and military authorities were searching for those responsible.

John, superintendent of Russell Johnson, Smelting and Refining Company near Parral, was reported by Consul McKnelly at Chihuahua. Federal troops were searching for the bandits, the message said, and Charge Schoenfeld at Mexico City has made representations to the foreign office in regard to the case.

The ranch occupied is near Tamaulipas, Mexico and is owned by Dolores Newton. It was seized by a band of about 100 revolutionaries, the consul at Guadalajara reported.

The commander of the federal forces said that a battalion had been sent in pursuit of the revolutionaries.

SMOOT OUTLINES TO PRESIDENT PROPOSED REDUCTION IN TAXES

By Associated Press.
Rapid City, S. D., July 22.—Reduction of taxes applying on the annual income of individuals beginning next March 15, appears probable.

This proposal is included in a tax reduction plan outlined Thursday by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, to President Coolidge.

The administration is prepared to go ahead with the tax slash at the next session and Senator Smoot expressed the view that at least $300,000,000 in the annual burden of federal levies could be lopped off in the new measure.

The desire for early enactment of the proposed tax revision legislation is another reason in the opinion of the Utah Senator for an early special session of congress, beginning about November 1, a month ahead of the regular meeting of congress. It would be necessary to have the tax bill put into law before March 15, if this scheme went through.

While little additional relief is in sight for the income tax payers, the program of Senator Smoot would give a cut to the tax payers with incomes between $25,000 and $50,000. Present normal rates of one and one half percent on the first $4,000 income; three per cent on the next $4,000 income and five per cent on all over that appear destined to be continued along with the present exemptions of $5,000 for married persons and $1,500 for single persons.

Corporations which have received a cut in their normal taxes in recent years now seem most likely to get the lion's share of relief. Senator Smoot favors reducing this levy from 13 1/2 per cent to 12 per cent, which he estimates would cut $150,000,000 of the prospective slash.

Miscellaneous levies also would be wiped out in that senator's program, including those of commissions and dues, however, he would continue the automobile tax, cutting it from 3 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent.

Mrs. Minnie Brookshire of Lufkin, aged 62 years, died in a sanatorium at San Antonio Thursday night, the remains will be forwarded to Corsicana, arriving at 6:15 Sunday morning over the Houston & Texas Central. The body will be taken to the home of J. O. Burke, 1740 West Third avenue and funeral services will be held at the Prairie Point (Bazette) Methodist church with interment in the Prairie Point cemetery at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The deceased is a daughter of late Alex M. and Amanda Walker and is survived by her husband, T. J. Brookshire, Lufkin; two sons, T. J. Brookshire, Jr., Lufkin; J. O. Brookshire, Lufkin; two brothers, J. J. Walker and Isaac Walker, Kerens, and one sister, Mrs. J. O. Alabama fixed by the United States Supreme Court recently in settling old litigation, will be started early next week. Attorney General Claude Pollard said today.

Pollard leaves Monday for Washington of actual work, will come.

Kerens Boy Takes Position Gas Co.

Special to the Sun.
Kerens, Texas, July 22.—Will Sidney Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Price of this city, who recently returned from Cambridge, Mass., where he attended Harvard University the past term, is now with the Lone Star Gas Company, leaving a fine line from Oklahoma to the coast, and will probably be stationed at Temple or Austin. Price accepted the position with this large company filling the place of his brother, Elben, who was promoted from this department and transferred to Sweetwater. Nature of the work being done by these young men comes under the head of civil engineering, parties of five, on average, going forward with surveying for the planting of the gas pipe.

Kerens Minister To Hold Revivals

Special to the Sun.
Kerens, Texas, July 23.—Rev. Joe N. Everheart, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, left Monday morning for Kerens where he will conduct a revival meeting beginning this week and lasting fourteen days. Rev. Everheart will fill a similar appointment in a North Texas town as soon as the Kerens meeting is closed.

The name of the town was not learned, but according to reports he will be away four weeks, having been engaged for two weeks in each place.

WRITTEN PROTEST IS FILED BY GYPSY CO. AGAINST COMMISSION

By Associated Press.
Oklahoma City, July 22.—Written protest against the corporation commission making any order to restrict drilling or curtail production in the Seminole field, has been made to the commission by the Gypsy Oil Company.

The protest followed issuance of a temporary restraining order late yesterday after a hearing on an application of Ray M. Collins, manager of the Seminole field, to curtail production.

Certain Sections Restricted.
Under the temporary order returnable August 5, no wells in the Seminole field may be shot or drilled into the sand in certain sections pending the hearing for a permanent order.

Collins was appointed as a commission agent to see that the order was enforced.

The corporation commission has no jurisdiction to enforce the terms of the agreement signed by 17 oil companies, as far as the Gypsy Company was concerned, as it was not a party to the contract, attorneys said in the protest.

Deny Authority.
They denied that the commission had jurisdiction to make an order in the case and declared the statute giving the commission its power along that line violates the constitution of Oklahoma and the United States.

It deprives the right of the Gypsy Company to produce oil from the leases without due process of law, the attorneys charge.

"It does not appear that the corporation commission has found that oil is being taken from producing sands at a time when there is not a market value at the well at a price equivalent to the actual value of the oil," the complaint said.

MONTHLY MEETING OF NAVARRO COUNTY UNION WAS HELD

A crowd of 125 attended the regular monthly meeting of the Navarro County Epworth League Union which was held at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church. After a devotional service, consisting of songs and prayer, a program was rendered. Miss Dora Mae Hall rendered a piano solo, after which the Sunbeam Band directed by Mrs. G. H. Ferrell and accompanied by Miss Georgia Ruth Pollock gave several selections. The pastor of the Eleventh Avenue church, Rev. W. A. Turner, gave a short talk. Miss Bertha Murphy gave a delightful reading being assisted at the piano by Miss Lady Faye Scott. After another selection by the band, which was a medley of patriotic airs, Marshall Weems played a cornet solo, accompanied by Mrs. G. W. Weems.

A pianologue which received much applause was given by Miss Loree Turner. At the conclusion of the program the meeting was turned over to the Union president, Bruce McCormick, of Blumington Grove. The meeting was adjourned after a short business session. Refreshments were served on the lawn of the church.

BOOTLEGGERS WILL BE MADE TO PAY FOR ENFORCEMENT

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, July 23.—Two hundred convicted bootleggers and illicit distillers in Northern California and Nevada were under notification today to appear at prohibition headquarters within ten days and pay approximately $200,000 in tax penalties.

The step was taken under the old internal revenue law, which provides for a tax of $6.40 on each gallon of whiskey illegally manufactured, a penalty of $1,000 for operation of a still without a license and a penalty of $500 for selling liquor at retail without a government license. Officials said the average assessment would be $1,500 each, and said the cases would be laid before the United States district attorney if the demands for payment were ignored. The new policy was formulated at a recent conference in Washington at which officials decided to make enforcement of the Volstead law pay for itself.

New York Giants Buy Sally Pitching Star

By Associated Press.
Charlotte, N. C., July 25.—Jack Leroy, leading pitcher of the South Atlantic Association, Saturday was sold to the New York Giants of the National League by the Charlotte club of the Sally League. Leroy has won seventeen games and lost six this season. He will report to the Giants at the close of the season.

Athletics Get Pitcher.
Massillon, Ohio, July 25.—Charles E. Wentzel, star pitcher of the Massillon club of the Ohio and Pennsylvania League, Saturday signed a contract to pitch for the Philadelphia Athletics. He has won twenty-one games and lost five this season. He will join the Athletics immediately. Wentzel pitched with a crippled right hand, the thumb of which was cut off with an ax when he was one year old. The same accident left him with a stiffened forefinger.

REPORT CONDITIONS OF AGRICULTURE ON COTTON BELT LINES

Special to the Sun.
Tyler, Texas, July 22.—Report of agricultural conditions along the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Lines for the week ending July 16.

Southeast Missouri and North Arkansas: With the sunshine and warm weather of the past week, crops have shown a general marked improvement. Corn is taking on a healthy color and growing rapidly, although it averages about three weeks late. Most fields are fairly clean. Cotton is covering rapidly and occasionally weeds are making their appearance. Much hay of excellent quality has been saved already. Although crops are not suffering from lack of moisture, a good general rain would be beneficial. A good rain fell at Dexter, Mo., but only light showers are reported in North Arkansas. Most farmers have an abundant supply of fresh vegetables from their home gardens.

Arkansas and Louisiana: Light centering showers fell during the week which were beneficial to all crops. A heavy rain fell at Plain Dealing, La., accompanied by much hail and wind, which did some damage in a few localities. Cotton average in Arkansas is about 15 per cent less than last year, while in Louisiana it is about 18 per cent less. Cotton is making satisfactory growth and setting fruit normally. The boll weevil is reported generally, but damage by same appears to be very much lighter than anticipated earlier in the season. The hot, and mostly dry weather, together with applications of poison seems to have held them in check. The acreage planted to corn in Arkansas will show about 5 per cent reduction, but the acreage planted to other forage crops is expected to more than offset this. The rice crop is progressing satisfactorily and no damage reported from any cause. The acreage this year is estimated at 172,600 as against 189,000 last year. This reduction is due to heavy rains during the preparation and planting season which prevented farmers from getting the land seeded.

Texas: Crop conditions generally continue to show a steady improvement and farmers are now looking forward to one of the best years since the war. The boll weevil does not seem to have spread much the past week and the damage being done is not nearly so great as reported two weeks ago. Cotton is making excellent growth, branching out and setting fruit. Open bolls are reported at Hillsboro. Very little root rot is showing up this year as compared to last. Corn generally is fine. Hamilton County says the crop is one of the best ever matured in that county. Open Texas farmers will probably not have to buy any feed for livestock this year. Poultry producers are steadily increasing their flocks and many are taking up the production of infertile eggs with a view of selling co-operatively. Interest in dairying is also gaining and many farmers are increasing their herds with more productive cows.

More Power Prison Farm Managers Is Advocated by Crane.
Huntsville, Texas, July 22.—More power for prison farm managers is advocated by W. R. Crane, manager of the Ferguson State Farm, where 35 convicts recently made their getaway by sawing through a wooden floor of their bunk house. Most of the prisoners, however, have been recaptured.

Captain Crane, as he is known, for 25 years was a police officer at Kaufman County. He recently was named manager of the Ferguson farm, where the most hardened prisoners are confined.

"The penitentiary has ceased to be a penitentiary," Crane said. "Maudlin sentiment on the outside has broken down the morale of the prisoners. The law governing the penitentiary now in effect hands taken authority out of the hands of prison officials and placed it in the hands of the convicts. The convicts have the axe and they know it."

Relating to the recent break at the Ferguson farm, Captain Crane said, "The men did not play fair with me, and it hurt after I had done all I could for them."

"I'm a square shooter," he said, "and I tried to do the right thing by them, but they didn't give me a chance. They double-crossed me."

He concluded his statement by saying: "Unless this situation is changed and I am given more power with which to handle these criminals, I'm going back to my farm in Kaufman County."

Freak Plant.
Alpine, Texas, July 22.—A plant that grows potatoes on its roots and maize on the upper part of its stem is on exhibition in the office of H. E. Ritchie at Abilene. It is learned here. Mr. Ritchie is said to have a crop of the "doubtful" plant growing in his yard. The plant is an experiment of Mr. Ritchie's.

WHEAT HARVESTING TEXAS-OKLAHOMA IS PRACTICALLY OVER

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, July 22.—Wheat harvesting in Texas and Oklahoma was practically completed by July 15, with the yield in Oklahoma falling short, R. C. Andrews, district manager of the American Railway association, here announced today in his report of grain conditions in the southwest territory of the first half of July.

A decided decline in wheat received and exported at Galveston and Houston in comparison with the same period in 1926 was noted in the report.

"Harvesting operations have been practically concluded in Texas and Oklahoma and are being followed closely with plowing in preparation for fall seeding," Mr. Andrews reported. "The poor outcome this year in those sections of Texas and Oklahoma where moisture was so short did not have so discouraging effect on fall planting, and if anything there will be greater acreage and more careful soil planting preparations than last year."

"Yields in Oklahoma have caused still further disappointment, and the total production for the state is not expected to exceed 35 million bushels. The Texas yield will be close to 18 million bushels as against 20 million in 1926. The Texas-Mexico production, as a result of drought conditions, is estimated at 150,000 bushels, compared to five million bushels last year. The government's latest estimate gives Kansas' yield 123,339,000 bushels; Nebraska, 74,740,000 and Colorado 19,665,000. The total United States winter wheat crop is estimated at 579,416,000 bushels, as compared with 626,929,000 bushels last year."

An increase of about 69,000,000 bushels is estimated for the spring crop, according to the report, and 20 foreign countries of the northern hemisphere report a slight decrease in acreage.

"Exports during the first half of July through Gulf ports did not come up to expectations but greater volume is expected during the last half," the report said. "Farmers and dealers continue to refuse foreign bids at prices offered, although there have been at substantial premiums over market quotations. Boats are plentiful and ocean rates are at extremely low levels."

"The corn crop in Texas points to a production closely approximating that of last year. Oklahoma about 20 per cent less, Arkansas 30 per cent less, Louisiana 15 per cent less and the total United States crop, 15 per cent less than a year ago."

"The United States oat production is estimated to be about seven per cent less than the production of 1926."

TIME TO TREAT COLD IN HEAD IS IN FIRST STAGES

By Associated Press.
Denver, July 22.—The time to treat a head cold is in the first stages and that is the stage few patients are seen by their physician, declared Dr. R. H. Peterson, Wichita Falls, Texas, addressing the twelfth annual convention of the American Osteopathic Society of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology here today.

"The cause of such colds is found in lowered body resistance which may come from fear, worry, anger, fatigue, exposure, improper clothing, poor food, or bad sanitary conditions," he said.

"Digestive disturbances also produce a toxic state in the body fluid, thus allowing catarrhal deafness, tonsillitis, bronchitis, asthma, stomach ulcer, neuritis, arthritis, colitis, pulmonary tuberculosis and other diseases which really are but complications of the head cold."

Dr. Ray B. Gilmour, Sioux City, is president of the American Osteopathic Association, whose meetings will continue all of this week. About 2,000 are in attendance.

Georgia Man Tells How He Found Relief for Many Complaints by Using An Old Home Remedy.

Athens, Ga.—"I have been married 51 years, and am the father of ten children," says Mr. J. C. E. Weatherford, R. F. D. "A," this city. "About the best home remedy I have ever found is Black-Draught. I can't remember when we haven't used it in the family, giving it to the children for colds and minor ills where a laxative is needed."

"We must have used Black-Draught for 40 years, anyway, and in that time we have tried it for many complaints. I would have felt, stupid feeling, and my head would ache and when I would lean over, I would get dizzy. I found that a couple of doses of Black-Draught would relieve this. I used to have gas on my stomach, and would spit up grease. Black-Draught relieved this."

"It is just an all-round good medicine. Now that I am 72 years old, have to take a laxative, and Black-Draught acts easy and gives me satisfaction."

METHOD ESTIMATING TEXAS COTTON CROP OUTLINED BY SCHULTZ

Special to the Sun.
Austin, Texas, July 22.—Methods of estimating the Texas cotton crop as it is carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture were outlined by H. H. Schultz, Texas state statistician, during the Special Cotton Week held at the University of Texas by the School of Business Administration in cooperation with Austin members of the cotton trade.

The task of making an estimate of the Texas cotton crop involves the compiling of figures on a large territory which produces as much as a third of the entire American crop, according to Mr. Schultz.

"Today there are only a few who feel that they have sufficient command of the situation to venture a forecast," said Mr. Schultz. Before the western part of the state is expanded into an important cotton section forecasting was comparatively simple. The cotton was grown in a few large fields, and if anything there will be greater acreage and more careful soil planting preparations than last year."

262,000 Square Miles.
"Texas is a state with 262,000 square miles of territory of which about a fifth is in cultivation," said Mr. Schultz. "There are 254 counties, all but eight of which raised cotton in 1924 but only 239 in 1926. Of the 456,000 farms, approximately 400,000 grow this staple."

The average cotton field measures 45 and 50 acres and in 1926 an average of 11 bales per farm was produced. In connection with this it must be borne in mind that somewhat over 60 per cent of the farm operators are tenants and about 18 per cent of the farmers are colored. Also that Texas measures practically 900 miles across the state east and west and the same north and south, cotton planting begins in February in the south and begins there while planting is still going on in the northwest."

Acreage is the first thing taken into consideration in making crop estimates, said Mr. Schultz. In order to take care of this, the Department of Agriculture has in the past few years sent out thousands of men who answer crop inquiries regularly. Returns are had each year through questionnaires filled out by the farmers. These answers to questions on how the acreage in cotton for the present year compares with the year preceding and also how the acreage compares for the various years.

"A serious drawback to this latter question, according to Mr. Schultz, lies in the fact that in the rapidly expanding acreage in the south and northwest there is hardly such a thing as 'usual' acreage."

In addition to the foregoing questions, the reporters are asked to give the acreage planted on their own farm last year and the acreage planted this year," continued Mr. Schultz. "Providing the sample is extensive enough, this will be a fairly accurate portrait of the acreage trend. Supplementing these returns, the rural mail carriers distribute thousands of cards to farmers along their routes. These cards ask for the acreage of land in the farm, the acreage not harvested on account of failure, idle land, new land cultivated for the first time, and the acreage of the various crops listed. This report gives very good returns, some counties returning as many as 400 cards."

Use Ingenious Device.
"As a further check of the shift in acreage, use is made of an ingenious device, the frontage meter, which measures the frontage of fields along the highways. In Texas as a selected route of some 5,000 miles is traveled every year, the miles on the right side of the road being measured. If for instance during 1926 we had measured 1,099,000 feet of the road fronting cotton and should find only 900,000 along the identical route this year, it would tend to indicate a reduction of 10 per cent. Another computation involves the calculation of the ratio of cotton to all crops measured. If in 1926 this was found to be 60 per cent and this year 54 per cent, a decrease of 10 per cent would also be indicated."

"A similar method involves the counting of telegraph poles from the railroad train. As the train travels along, the number of poles fronting cotton and other crops along a certain route, which when compared with the count of the identical course of the year preceding gives the percentage change along the route. If this sample taken of the fields of the state is well selected, the results are fairly accurate."

"A useful check of the foregoing methods is given by the acres per 100 survey. In this questionnaire the reporter is asked to state how many acres in every hundred planted in his locality are in cotton, corn, oats, etc. A comparison of the ratios this year with those reported last year reflects the trend fairly well."

"So, then, we have the acreage trend in terms of judgment figures of the crop reporters, actual acreages of numerous sample farms, the results of pole and meter surveys. As a rule the ratios computed from all of these indications show close agreement. When they do not, it is necessary to make a detailed investigation in an endeavor to learn the reason for any considerable deviation."

"In the fall the reporters are asked to give a judgment figure of percentage of the crop in their vicinity which has been abandoned since the July acreage estimate. Besides this, they give the actual acreage picked on their own farms for the current and the preceding season, as well as the number of bales produced on this land. Then in May of the following year the Cotton Board reviews all available data, considers the total production of the state given by the ginning returns and the average yield of lint per acre, and makes the final estimate of yield acreage planted and harvested."

Estimate Production.
"Having established the preliminary figure on acreage, the next step is to arrive at an approximation of the probable production of the year. Owing to the fact that cotton is a progressive fruiting plant, this is a most difficult task, much more so than to estimate the production of such crops as corn, wheat and oats. As a rule, when these crops have reached the fruiting stage the promised yield does not vary much from that time until maturity. But we all know that cotton can promise more and do less than any of our important crops. It can set a multitude of bolls and shed them over night, or rain and a few inches high for weeks and when rains come can mature a fair crop. Especially when favored by showery weather, weevil, leaf worm, bollworm, or root-rot can cut a large crop to the point where it will hardly pay for the picking."

"However, there are years now and then when cotton can get through the season with a minimum of handicap in such years, it is comparatively easy to forecast probable production with a high degree of accuracy. To be able to use mathematics to assist in making the greatest possible use of this fundamental science, in crop reporting an effort is made to express history in mathematical terms and apply these to the future. To assist in this, there has been devised a system of crop conditions and puts. It is really a very simple method."

"A report on crop conditions means that the size, stand, healthfulness and fruiting of the plant, together with the presence or absence of limiting factors, such as weather, insects and disease, give promise of a certain yield per acre and final volume of production."

"Doing Fairly Well."
"Normal condition is simply what a grower has in mind when he says that he has made a 'crop.' Suppose we were to say to a cotton grower, 'How is your crop doing?' He may respond that it is 'doing fairly well.' Well, how much do you think it will make?" you ask. He may answer, 'It looks as if it might make three-fourths of a crop.' It may be that when he has made 400 pounds of lint-cotton, he believes that he has made a 'crop.' In this case 'crop' and 'normal' mean the same thing. On his land 400 pounds is a normal crop, estimate of the condition."

SIX TEXAS LEAGUE PITCHERS GRADUATED FROM CLASS D BALL

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, July 22.—Among the pitchers taking their regular turns on Texas League slabs, six were graduated a year ago from the now defunct Class D Texas Association. It is believed that this is the first time that a Class D outfit ever contributed as many as six hurlers to a Class A league in a single season. The twirlers who made the jump successfully are Gene Walker of Dallas, Walter Newman of San Antonio, Bill Shores and Earle Caldwell of Waco, and Tex Carleton and Dick Whitworth of Houston.

Last year Whitworth and Carleton hurled for Austin, Walker was with Palestine, Shores was with Mexico, Newman was with Terrell, and Caldwell was with Temple.

Walter Newman had made the most sensational record this year in the Texas League of the six former association pitchers. He has won 12 games for the Bears, and has been pitched frequently out of turn as a relief hurler. Newman joined Terrell in 1926, coming from Allen Academy of Bryan. He is just a kid and experts agree that he is one of the best major league prospects in the league.

Fifteen months ago Earle Caldwell was teaching school at Rogers, and in summer of 1926 he decided to take a chance at professional baseball. With Temple he worked with only fair success, frequently getting his bumps. This spring he and three-fourths of a crop becomes 300 pounds, or 75 per cent of normal. We may ask another farmer the same question and learn that he expects two-thirds of a crop, but his land may be of poorer quality and not so well located as that of the first man. He may possibly consider that he has made a crop when he picks 300 pounds of lint cotton per acre. In this event, his estimate of two-thirds of a crop is interpreted as between 65 and 70 per cent condition with a probable yield of about 200 pounds. A large number of such averages from men who know cotton can but give a fairly accurate estimate of the condition."

PAYING $1 QUART FOR MOSQUITOES ARKANSAS TOWN

By Associated Press.
Stuttgart, Ark., July 22.—Dead mosquitoes are worth $1 a quart here, and the chamber of commerce, which is the purchaser, wants as many as it can get.

The only rules are that the mosquitoes must be trapped in Stuttgart. The anti-mosquito campaign is being waged in the interest of more peaceful nights.

tried out with Waco, but few thought he would make the grade. By hard, conscientious work, he has developed an excellent curve ball, and pitches with coolness and confidence. He has twirled a number of spectacular games this season, and he also is considered a big league prospect.

Dick Whitworth, who had a trial with Houston back in 1921, has had a most unusual career. He first attracted attention in 1919 in a series between Taylor and Lockhart when he bested Bill Falk, now of the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 0. He later joined Nick Linz city league team in Austin and his work there enabled him to be offered a trial with Houston. He did not make good with Houston and came back to Austin. Since that time he has pitched for Austin in the Texas Association until this year, and always was a big winner. Last fall he was purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals but refused to report because it would result in his losing his seniority with a railroad, for which he works in the winter months. He recently pitched one of the best games seen in Texas League this year when he limited Wichita Falls to three hits.

Tex Carleton, who broke into professional baseball last year, did not win many games for Austin in 1926, but had all of the earmarks of a real boxman. He has done exceptionally good work for Houston, and has improved as the season advanced.

Bill Shores was sold by Mexico last summer to Wichita Falls, and

NEW LOCATION IS MADE BY MAGNOLIA IN CHATFIELD AREA

A new location has been made by the Magnolia Petroleum Company in the Chatfield area. The new test will be drilled on the R. L. Hodge farm just in front of the school house at Chatfield. The site for the well was marked off Thursday and work of hauling material and machinery to the test was started Friday. It is understood that the well will be a deep test.

The test will be known as the Magnolia R. L. Hodge 1, and is located on the R. L. Witherspoon 24 1-2 acres tract of the Thomas Chambers survey. The Magnolia has blocked a large number of leases in this area.

The Earl and Ragsdale was drilling Friday around 4327 feet, after the sand found earlier in the week had tested salt water. Two joints of pipe were removed from the Reynolds Mortgage Company test but several hundred feet of pipe remain in the hole to be fished out. The Southern Pipe A-2 was drilling at 4708. A salt water sand was found in this well a few days ago but operators are going down deeper. The Southern Pine B-1 is drilling in boulders and sticky shale at 3090 feet.
